

Coronado Ventures Forum
190 Central Park Square
Los Alamos, NM 87544

Contact:
Phone: (505) 662-0048
Fax: (505) 662-0099
www.cvf-nm.org

Coronado Ventures Forum Announces 2002 Board

Los Alamos, NM – March 4, 2002 — Coronado Ventures Forum the New Mexico organization that links investors and entrepreneurs has announced its Board of Directors membership for 2002. The CVF Board consists of business, technology and regional development leaders. Board president Thomas J. Stephenson has succeeded past president and continuing board member Randy Burge. All members are volunteers who serve without compensation. Coronado Ventures Forum board members for 2002:

Brian Barnett is President of The Barnett Group, a high-technology management consulting firm and SatWest, a satellite equipment distributorship. Previously he was with KPMG Consulting and NASA.

Randy Burge is president of proActive.techonomics, a tech consulting company. He is founder of the NM Info. Tech. & Software Assn. (NMITSA) and president of Swarm, a spinout of the Santa Fe Institute. Randy serves on several boards including the Council of Regional Info. Tech. Assns., Global Haptics, Assn. of Commerce & Industry, Next Generation Economy and TVI SBDC.

Andrea D'Ambrosia is President of Marketing Momentum, a marketing and business development consulting practice specializing in the biosciences. Ms. D'Ambrosia has 17 years' experience in technical and business aspects of technology related business.

Fidel Gutierrez is Senior Vice President for Los Alamos National Bank (LANB). Fidel is also a member of the board for Santa Fe Economic Development, Inc., the Tierra Contenta Corporation and President of the Board for Girl's Inc. of Santa Fe.

Richard Harding is a Managing Partner with Santa Fe Venture Partners, a General Partner with the Silicon Valley-based Venture Capital firm International Venture Fund I. IVF I is a seed and early stage Venture Capital group with investments in California, Utah, Hawaii, and New Mexico.

Bill Heckel is a financial consultant with A.G. Edwards, specializing in tax advantaged investing, wealth accumulation and investment banking. Prior to moving to Santa Fe, Bill focused on the operation and financial restructuring of industrial concerns.

Hugo Hinojosa is the Director of Operations for the New Mexico Manufacturing Extension Partnership, which provides business and technical assistance to small manufacturing companies throughout the State. Hugo has been on the CVF Board since 1995.

Kevin Holsapple is the Executive Director of the Los Alamos Commerce and Development Corporation, a non-profit that promotes economic development and supports small businesses in Northern NM.

Harry Hummer is a retired banker and actively involved in supporting small technology businesses in Northern New Mexico through the Santa Fe Business Incubator and Santa Fe Economic Development Inc.

Larry Icerman, a CVF Founder, is President of Icerman & Associates, an advanced-technology management consulting firm in Santa Fe, NM. Larry also founded one of the first state-funded seed capital programs in the U.S. in 1984.

Tim Karsten is an entrepreneur leadership consultant. Tim has degrees from UC Berkeley and The Southern California Law Center. Previously, Tim ran an international trading company assisting American manufacturers in exporting to Western Europe.

Trevor Loy is Managing Partner of Flywheel Ventures. He has founded, managed, and sold several tech firms; designed entrepreneurship courses at Stanford; and holds BSEE, MSEE, and MS Management degrees, each from Stanford.

Tom Meyer is the Associate Director of Strategic Research at Los Alamos National Laboratory. Tom came to LANL in 2001 from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where he was Kenan Professor of Chemistry and Vice Chancellor for Graduate Studies and Research. He is a member of the National Academy of Sciences and the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and is one of the most highly cited chemists in the world.

Carol Muratore is President of Green Tree Research and consults with high technology executives on financial strategies in preparation for private and public funding events. Previously, Carol was a Wall Street securities analyst following the computer industry.

Tom Stephenson, is a General Partner for Murphree Venture Partners, an early-stage technology venture capital firm. He is Chairman of the NM Information Technology and Software Association, and on the Board of Elisar Software, in Albuquerque. He has an MBA from UT Austin, and a BA in Physics from Rice University.

About Coronado Ventures Forum

Santa Fe New Mexican Coronado Ventures Forum is a non-profit organization founded in 1994 by regional and business leaders to support technology-based new-business funding and economic development in New Mexico. The organization's goals are to link and educate investors and entrepreneurs. These goals are promoted through the Forum's bimonthly meetings.

Potential investors and entrepreneurs interested in meeting notification or in knowing more about the Forum are encouraged to register at the organization's website at www.cvf-nm.org.

For more information contact Tom Stephenson, CVF President, (505) 843-4277